Physician Offers Hope to Back Pain Sufferers

By Deanna Evans

A local orthopedic and spinal surgeon is giving hope to back pain sufferers by using advanced diagnostics and treatments to reduce and eliminate back pain for his patients.

Dr. Kris Parchuri, a spinal surgeon with offices in Bartlesville and Tulsa, specializes in bringing the best possible procedure and treatment to every patient by connecting with them on a personal and professional level.

"I have already recommended Dr. Parchuri to three different people," said Duane V., one of Dr. Parchuri's patients. "The experience was great. I feel like my body is a success."

At the office of Dr. Parchuri, a team of medical professionals is ready to help you get your life back today. If you are suffering from chronic or acute pain, you need the leading medical professional in Tulsa spinal surgery. He is committed, dedicated, and specializes in orthopedic spine surgery and pain management. He is ready to exceed your expectations with the very best service and treatment. With more than 13 years of experience, Dr. Parchuri can put you on the road to recovery and help you reclaim your life.

Thanks to Dr. Parchuri, Bruce R., has this to say, "Now, I can give my granddaughters piggyback rides and play with them in the swimming pool. Before, the result of doing that was pain for 2-3 weeks or longer."

DR. KRIS PARCHURI

Dr. Parchuri is a proud graduate of Kansas City University of Medicine and Biosciences College of Osteopathic Medicine. He completed his orthopedic residency in Tulsa at Oklahoma State University Medical Center, followed by a spine fellowship at Texas Back Institute in Plano, Texas.

"There are many health care providers that can offer the initial evaluation and work up," said Dr. Parchuri. "These include your primary care doctor, chiropractor, or a physical therapist. These individuals will usually offer conservative, non-surgical, options prior to making a referral."

Dr. Parchuri said many people are scared or anxious to visit with a spine surgeon, because they believe the surgeon will want to operate.

"Unfortunately, this is a myth perpetuated by non-facts," he says. "Most surgeons will only recommend surgery when it is absolutely needed and when all other non-surgical options have failed."

"Typically, in my practice, less than 10 percent of the patients I see on a weekly basis end up needing surgery," Dr. Parchuri adds.

"Also, technology has dramatically changed in that fusions are quickly becoming a thing of the past," Dr. Parchuri adds. "My practice is one of the leaders in performing artificial disk replacements of the cervical and lumbar spine. This allows for a much faster recovery and essentially no loss of motion."

Dr. Parchuri also specializes in the diagnosis and treatment of SI joint disease and dysfunction.

If non-surgical therapy fails to provide lasting relief, Dr. Parchuri and his patients may consider surgical options. The iFuse Implant System is a minimally invasive treatment option to treat some SI joint disorders. The titanium iFuse Implants are surgically inserted to fuse the joint and eliminate pain.

Dr. Parchuri said, "15-30 percent of patients with chronic low back pain may have pain arising from the sacroiliac (SI) joint, yet most physicians are not trained to consider the SI joint when evaluating lower back pain. If you are experiencing lower back pain, it may be coming from your SI joint."

Unique Creations & Gifts

By Deanna Evans

An area native's love for flowers has blossomed into a beautiful studio, where people can purchase florals, silk arrangements, gifts, and décor accents.

"It's my goal to bring flowers into people's everyday lives," said Roots+Blooms owner Whitney Virden. "I believe flowers can be used to brighten someone's life ANY day, not just on special occasions."

Roots+Blooms has partnered with other local artisans to carry unique gifts in the studio, located in the ITIO Building in downtown Bartlesville. In addition to living flowers and plants, they sell various other gift items, including candles, bath soaps, and welcome signs. They also carry designs with dried flowers and felt flowers.

Roots+Blooms sells Grab and Goes, perfect for last-minute gift ideas. "Whether it's for someone who has had a hard day, or for a birthday or other celebration, we have several designs available for immediate purchase," said Whitney.

The creations by Roots+Blooms bring an organic and wild touch to each design.

"It is incredible to see something plucked from a pasture or a field sitting alongside a commercially-grown flower," said Whitney. "Somehow bringing the two together transforms the feeling and look of an arrangement."

A photograph of a large, vibrant bouquet of flowers. The bouquet includes pink peonies, yellow roses, purple flowers, and white daisies, all arranged in a clear glass vase. The flowers are wrapped in brown paper with a white ribbon. A small tag attached to the bouquet reads "Be Happy for Mother's Day".

Unity Square: A Sizzlin' Scene

Unity Square's Sizzlin' Summer Series Promises Fun

by Deanna Evans

Unity Square in Bartlesville promises an exciting and fun summer with a fabulous lineup of outdoor events in its Sizzlin' Summer Series.

"The great news is the entertainment is not just for one weekend, but with one concert a month, the fun will last all summer long," said Val Callaghan, managing director of the Bartlesville Community Center and Unity Square. "This year's lineup features Oklahoma bands like The Get Down Band and Zodiac. Our community's own Bartlesville Symphony Orchestra will be accompanied by a brilliant laser light show. In addition, Thomas Bridges will serve as DJ for a karaoke and glow in the dark dance party."

A variety of food trucks will be onsite during each event for food purchases, or you can visit Price Tower Plaza's outdoor restaurant for food and adult beverages, which can be taken anywhere in the park.

All events are free to the public and are family friendly. "We are excited to announce the Sizzlin' Summer Series lineup and invite everyone to bring your lawn chairs or picnic blanket and come party with us all summer long!" said Lisa Welch, Bartlesville Community Center's event coordinator.

Mark your calendars for these sizzling summer events:

The Sizzlin' Summer Series kicks off on Friday, June 4, with the debut of the interactive art/watercolor feature, Native Color. The talented Missouri artist, Amie Jacobsen, who created the artwork "Indian Blanket Flowers," will be onsite for this grand event, which runs from 6-9 p.m.

After the art exhibit unveiling, guests can get moving with the crowd-pleasing favorite, The Get Down Band.

Local vendors will be selling a wide variety of items, including seasonal flower baskets, local honey, and Roots + Blooms fresh flowers. Moxie on 2nd will have honeybee themed items for sale, a lovely touch to the bees that are a part of Jacobsen's beautiful art installation. There will also be art projects from Bartlesville Art Association for visitors to enjoy.

The public is invited to browse event sponsor booths and enter to win giveaways from the stage throughout the evening.

Kids can enjoy playing in the inflatables at no charge, provided by Baughn's Lawns, or create their own masterpiece with guidance from Bartlesville Art Association volunteer artists.

July 9

The next Sizzlin' Summer event, "Hometown Heroes," is from 6-10 p.m. Friday, July 9.

"We will be paying tribute to our local law enforcement and healthcare workers," said Callaghan. "The summer heat will be a perfect time for kids to enjoy the Bartlesville Fire Department fire truck for water play."

Unity Square has partnered with the Bartlesville Symphony Orchestra as they present a pops concert accompanied with a laser light show.

There will be red, white, and blue glow necklaces for everyone. In addition, Bartlesville Public Library is providing free lawn games on the Green to play throughout the evening.

August 6

"Salsa North of Tulsa," the third event of the series, will be held from 6-9 p.m. on Friday, August 6. The public is invited to enjoy All Star Ballroom's Salsa Dance Demo, followed by free Salsa dance lessons for everyone. Then people can practice their new dance skills as the talented band, Zodiac, performs on the mainstage.

Enjoy free samples provided by those in the salsa-making contest, and bottles will be available for purchase, as well.

September 3

The final event of the series, "Glow in the Park," will be held from 6-9 p.m. Sept. 3.

"Join Unity Square staff as we dance and sing while DJ Thomas Bridges spins tunes for karaoke," said Callaghan.

"Stick around until dark for a glow in the dark dance party, complete with glow in the dark giveaways for the children," she added.

More About Unity Square

In May 2020, during the pandemic, Bartlesville celebrated the opening of Unity Square, an urban green space in the heart of the Tower Center Arts District in downtown Bartlesville.

"We began using the space immediately for public, outdoor events and activities," said Welch, who works with persons who wish to rent the area for events. "We are going into summer of 2021 with even more momentum than last year, as many have seen the space utilized in all its glory and are planning with the same anticipation and excitement for their events."

Changes Coming to Price Tower

The Plaza will open on June 4 with additional seating

by Deanna Evans

Price Tower Arts Center has some exciting renovations taking place.

Rick Loyd, Price Tower executive director, said additional restaurant seating in the art gallery by the plaza will open on June 4.

"We are finalizing the upgraded kitchen and will be offering additional menu items created by Wright Chef Jordan Keen," said Loyd. "The art gallery by the plaza will be opening as a restaurant and the décor will feature many of our works from the Price Tower archives."

Menu items will be a mix of favorites from Copper including PB&J Burgers, flat breads and nachos, and some new additions Chef Jordan is perfecting and will be announcing soon. The restaurant will be open year-round, serving breakfast, lunch and dinner seven days a week.

The outdoor Plaza will also open June 4, as well as the art gallery and the Frank Lloyd Wright/Price Oil Co./Price Tower Museum.

The art gallery will open with the personal collection of Ronnie and Glenn Cox.

"The Coxes have been tremendous supporters of Price Tower for many years and have donated a large portion of their amazing collection to us," said Loyd. "These pieces will be for sale, with all proceeds donated to Price Tower."

Throughout the exhibit, many pieces the family will be retaining will be on display, as well. In total, there will be close to 100 pieces on display and for sale from June 4 until July 31.

In September and October, Lauren Florence, former Bartlesville resident, will display her collections which feature subject matter that is inspired by the people of Oklahoma, wildlife, and the American West. She will also be conducting a workshop on her painting styles.

Loyd said the back half of the gallery will focus more on the works of regional artists in Oklahoma and the surrounding states. The exhibit will be changing every two months.

Price Tower's downstairs area is also getting a bit of a makeover, with fresh paint and updated lighting.

PTAC will still have the fine dining at Copper on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights, featuring the dishes from Wright Chef Winner Jordan Keen. A chef from Clearwater, FL, Keen is the artist in residence for a year at Copper Restaurant + Bar.

In addition to the unique dishes served, Copper dining is elegant and offers sweeping views of Bartlesville and the nearby prairie landscape.

Other changes planned at the PTAC including enhancing the space on the second floor to become the Frank Lloyd Wright/Price Oil Co./Price Tower Museum.

"The exhibit will highlight Frank Lloyd Wright and tell his story as an architect," said Loyd. "We will be educating the public on how the Price family and Mr. Wright came together to create this historic building.

"It's incredible how they got together and the Price Tower came to be in Bartlesville," said Loyd.

This is the 65th year of the Price Tower, whose doors opened on Feb. 10, 1956, forever changing the skyline of Bartlesville. The captivating exhibit will house a number of drawings and artifacts from the design and construction phases of "The Tree That Escaped the Crowded Forest."

The Price Tower offers historic tours at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and at 2 p.m. Sunday. Copper Restaurant + Bar is open from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday.

The Price Tower Arts Center is located at 510 Dewey Ave., in downtown Bartlesville. For more information, visit www.pricetower.org or call 918-336-4949.

Experiencing the Love of the Father

by Curt Landry

Have you ever asked, "How do I experience the love of God?" Oftentimes, we unknowingly have perceptions of how Father God loves us that are based on our earthly experiences. When we don't receive perfect love from earthly relationships, our hearts break. And the truth is, humanity is broken, so heartache is inevitable.

We build up walls of protection, and without even realizing it, start to develop mindsets that our Heavenly Father must love us under those same conditions.

Thank you, Jesus, that Your perfect love casts out these lies — even when we can't always "feel" it!

When we start to challenge mindsets and pull apart the lies that we have believed for years, we can make a choice to seek the heart of Father God, receiving His love and canceling any thoughts of condemnation and unworthiness.

You might "know" in your head that the Lord loves you. You likely know verses such as John 3:16-17 that express the Father's love toward His children ...

"For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life. For God did not send His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved."

... but the question is, are you experiencing the love of the Father? And, if not, where do you start?

Start Here | Meditate on Your Identity

Even if you grew up in the Body of Christ, the enemy would still have you believe that you are not made completely new in Jesus. Somehow, thought patterns turn to earning, at least at some level, the love of the Father. We forget that we already have access to it all because we are co-heirs with Christ (see Romans 8:17)!

As Believers, we must cancel the mindset of lack and earning, and embrace the gift and authority we have in Jesus.

To experience His love, you must understand your identity as His child. As a son or daughter of the King, you are ...

Chosen, A Holy Priesthood, A Treasured Possession, Set Apart for a Purpose, Redeemed, Healed, Righteous ... just to name a few.

House of David
22500 South Hwy. 125
Fairland, Oklahoma 74343
www.HouseofDavid.com

The key here is to choose to believe that these characteristics are your new identity in Christ. Proclaim out-loud ... "I choose to believe!" These are not earned, but freely given through Jesus. Therefore, you cannot lose them, and you always have access to them.

"For the gifts and the calling of God are irrevocable." — Romans 11:29

"Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us with every spiritual blessing in the heavenly places in Christ..." — Ephesians 1:3

How Israel Gives Us Hope

The lynchpin for understanding your hope and the Father's love is to look at Israel. This nation, set apart for God's purpose, promised a great inheritance, and chosen to bless all of humanity, has been persecuted, oppressed, and enslaved throughout history. So much so that we start to think the Father's love for them has expired.

But here's the thing, according to His Word, this simply cannot be. God cannot lie (see Numbers 23:19, Titus 1:2, Hebrews 6:18)!

In fact, the Apostle Paul writes about this. In his letter to the Romans, he reminds the Church that God has not cast away His people. "Certainly not!" he says. He reminds us that they have been grafted into this chosen family of God, and that we should not boast against the branches, because we do not support the root (Israel), but the root supports us (see Romans 11:11-18).

Once we truly know and believe that God's Word cannot be broken — to Israel and to us — we start to step into our identity in Jesus and experience His love in new ways.

As a son or daughter, you are sealed to the Lord in a covenant relationship.

If you are a Believer, we encourage you to turn to the Lord, no matter what you are experiencing or where you are in your faith journey, and give thanks for His everlasting covenant! The journey isn't always easy, but the destination is promised. This is why Paul reminds us in Philippians 3:14 to "... press toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus."

Practical Applications ...

- Identify wrong thinking in your thought life that say you are not complete, worthy, or equipped.
- Read Ephesians 1 and write down every good thing God says about you.
- Meditate on the truth of your identity!

Tips to Know Before Planting

3 Homeowner Insurance Tips for Flowers or Vegetables

(BPT) — Days are getting longer and warmer, inspiring many to want to spend more time outside. Lots of people enjoy gardening this time of year — it's an outdoor activity families can do together, especially if parents are looking for ways to keep their children occupied. It's also a great way to get some fresh air, light exercise, relieve stress, and add to your home's curb appeal.

"Sprucing up your landscaping with some new flower beds and shrubs can give your home a refreshed look," said Christopher O'Rourke, vice president of property claims at Mercury Insurance. "A well-maintained yard can also help protect against common homeowners insurance claims like water and fire damage. For example, keeping gutters cleared of leaves and debris can help prevent blockages that might direct water into the home. Regularly mowing the lawn, pruning bushes, and keeping the yard free of grass clippings and twigs is aesthetically pleasing and can help mitigate against wildfire risk if homeowners live in an area where these are common."

Here are three additional tips O'Rourke recommends.

1. Well-planned landscaping can help mitigate wildfire risk.

Homeowners who live in areas with dry climates that are susceptible to wildfires should evaluate their landscaping — if laid out in a certain way, it might increase your home's insurability.

"The plants surrounding a house have one of the greatest influences on its chances of survival," said Douglas Kent, wildfire expert, author, and professor of land management at California State Polytechnic University, Pomona.

Plants within the five feet closest to your home should be fleshy and moist, as they are reluctant to produce a flame. Instead, they'll sizzle and wilt when exposed to flames and heat. If properly maintained, these plants can catch and extinguish a firebrand.

O'Rourke notes that homeowners who don't live in fire country can also take precautions to protect against fires. "Trimming tree limbs so they're at least 10 feet away from your home and pruning unruly bushes can help prevent fires caused by lightning strikes, for example, from jumping onto your roof or exterior walls," he said.

2. Before hiring expert help, inquire about coverage.

Some gardening jobs may take an expert to complete. However, this brings added exposure to a homeowner if they don't check on coverage from the contractor. With shovels, rakes, and power tools being used, an accident could happen at any moment.

"Before signing a contract with a landscaper or gardener, ask them for their proof of insurance," said O'Rourke. "If they don't have coverage, you probably want to find one who does. In most cases, the contractor's coverage will act as the primary insurance should one of their employees get injured while on the job."

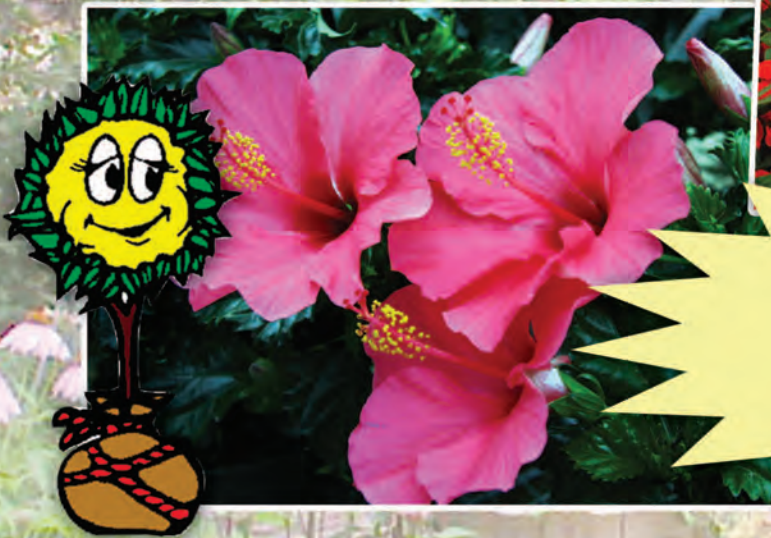

O'Rourke also recommends homeowners read their insurance policies in full, so they know what is and isn't covered in the event of a loss. "Knowledge is power, so understanding your policy is of utmost importance," he adds. "Talk to your agent if you have questions. They're also the best resource to help you determine if you have the right amount of coverage."

3. Consult with your insurance agent after hardscaping.

Most gardens feature a combination of plants and decorative, non-living features or structures, like pathways, fencing, or even fountains to help better define and add character to the space. Many homeowners also like to indulge in the warm weather by expanding their outside living space, which can include anything from remodeling a patio to building a garden oasis for relaxing and entertaining.

Regardless of how you may want to enhance your landscape to better showcase — and enjoy — your gardening prowess, it's a good idea to speak with your insurance agent after making any significant changes to your property.

"Our homes are typically where we spend the majority of our time, so it's natural to want to customize them to our specific needs and wants. However, renovations — including those done outdoors — can increase a home's replacement cost if it's damaged or destroyed," said O'Rourke. "Talking to your agent about enhancements you've made will help ensure you're properly insured so you can enjoy the fruits of your labor for many years to come."
